

NEW OWNERS HAVE ASSUMED CHARGE

Public Properties Passed Into Hands of Boston Men Today---$600,000 in Money Involved in Deal.

The biggest deal in the history of Paducah was finally consummated this morning when the Street Railway company, the Paducah Gas and Fuel company and the Paducah Steam Heating company passed into the hands of Stone & Webster, of Boston, Mass. The legal papers were all finished yesterday, everything was adjusted to the satisfaction of all concerned, and this morning the properties were turned over to the new owners, and the money paid. About $600,000 in actual cash was involved in the deal. In addition, the new owners will spend about $400,000 in extensions and improvements. Early in the forenoon, all the officers of the three old companies, the Paducah City Railway company, the Paducah Gas and Fuel company and the Paducah Steam Heating company, resigned. The new company then elected the following officers for all three companies: D. P. Robinson, president. Elliot Wadsworth, vice president. O. S. Pratt, treasurer. D. H. Adams, secretary and assistant treasurer. Mr. J. S. Bleeker was chosen general manager of the railway company, and Stone & Webster are for the present general managers of the Paducah Gas and Fuel company. All the above are directors in the new company, but other directors will later be chosen. The only officials of the old companies to remain is Mr. George C. Wallace, who will remain with the new company a short time. There is no superintendent of the street car line at present, and it is understood may not be any, the duties to be left to the assistant, Mr. G. M. McNeilly, who has been assistant to Supt. A. S. Thompson for some time, and is an efficient and popular man. Mr. Dan Simon, who has been superintendent of motive power for the company for many years, will open an electrical supply house here, it is understood. Mr. John S. Bleeker, the new general manager, has been in the city for several weeks, and has already made friends with every one with whom he has come in contact. The new owners are fine men and represent the highest class of citizenship. They are wealthy and progressive and intend to make these utilities in Paducah equal to any to be found in any city in the country the size of Paducah. They are all men of whom Paducah will be very proud. General Manager Bleeker said this afternoon that the company had not fully matured its plans for improvements and extensions, but that the street car lines will be extended, probably in several different directions.

SIR HENRY IRVING DIES IN BRADFORD

The End Was Very Sudden and Unexpected.

He Appeared As Usual in "Heckel" Last Night—All England Mourns Him.

CAUSE OF DEATH, SYNCOPE

London, Oct. 11.—Sir Henry Irving died suddenly at Bradford last night. The death of the distinguished actor was totally unexpected. He was engaged in a tour of the provinces, appearing nightly. Sir Henry played as usual last night at Bradford and returned from the theatre to his hotel, where he was seized with an attack of syncope, dying at 11 o'clock. Irving's last appearance was as "Heckel" in Lord Tennyson's play of that name.

Died in Harness. London, Oct. 11.—The English-speaking world has suffered an irreparable loss by the sudden death of Sir Henry Irving, who was universally regarded as the most representative English actor of contemporary times.

Sir Henry died peacefully in harness. He was giving a series of farewell performances in the English provinces, and this week was playing an engagement at Bradford.

After the performance Sir Henry returned to his hotel, reaching his rooms at 11:30 o'clock, when it was observed that he was in great pain. Physicians were immediately summoned, but before they could arrive Sir Henry was seized with an attack of syncope, and expired within a few minutes without having uttered a word, in the presence of Bram Stoker, who had been his immediate manager for many years, and a few other intimate friends. The event caused the greatest pain and consternation among the members of the company.

To the last moment of his life, Sir Henry Irving's heart was in the work to which he had devoted his career—the raising of the standard of his art. On Wednesday he was entertained at luncheon in the Bradford town hall, at which the Mayor presented him an address from his admirers.

In replying to the address Sir Henry spoke of himself as one, the sands of whose life were fast running out, but no one then present had the slightest idea that the end would come so soon.

Some men impress us with the idea that it is too much trouble to make comedies.

TWO CONTRACTS LET FOR ELKS' BUILDING

Geo. Katterjohn Gets Masonry Ed. Eaker Excavations.

The Work of Tearing Down the Old Stable Begins Early Next Week.

OTHER CONTRACTS TO BE LET.

The Elks' Building committee has officially awarded the contract for the masonry work of the new building to be erected on North Fifth near Broadway, to Mr. George Katterjohn, it is understood, and the excavation work to Mr. Ed. Eaker. Monday night all the bids for the work as a whole were rejected by the committee. Later the committee decided to award the contract piecemeal.

Mr. John Terrell will vacate the stable the first of the coming week, and the work of tearing it down will begin at once. It will require ten days to tear down the building and clear away the debris, and then the excavations for the foundation will begin.

Mr. Katterjohn, as soon as the excavations are complete, will begin the foundation proper, which will be built on several feet above the ground. In the meantime it will be devoted about proceeding with the building during cold weather, and it is expected to award the other contracts within the next three weeks, and the building may proceed uninterrupted during the winter, except when the weather makes work impossible.

It is not known exactly what the contracts already awarded amount to, but Mr. Katterjohn will do all the masonry work to the roof. This leaves the carpenter, painting, tin and roof work, plumbing and minor contracts yet to be awarded. It will be good news to the public in general, as well as to several hundred Elks, to learn that the work on the new building is to start at once.

A PET DOG

Accidentally Pushed Child Into Boiling Water, Causing Death.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 14.—Elmer W. Cochran, aged three years, whose parents moved here a few days ago from Henderson, Ky., was scalded to death. The accident was indirectly caused by a dog. The boy was playing on the floor of his home near where his mother had a tub of boiling water. The family dog came running by and pushed the boy into the water. The mother, hearing the screams of the little one, rushed to his rescue, but too late to save his life. The parents lost a child about two years ago by being burned to death in a fireplace.

THE WEEK'S NEWS

IN THE COMMERCIAL WORLD
Clearings this week $655,510
Same week last year 795,103

Business is reported better this week than last, partly due to the cool weather, which sent many hurrying to the clothing stores. The expected revival has not fully arrived, however, although it is certain to come soon. Horse Show week is expected to prove a lively one in business circles, as there will be many prominent people here from other places.

Distillery Not to Start Till Spring.

The Terrell distillery, according to Mr. A. S. Terrell, will not be started until after the first of the year. Mr. Terrell says that the best bourbon is made from spring products, and that for this reason they believe in running in the spring. The Terrell distillery makes some of the best whiskey in the state.

To Start Up Next Month.

Mr. R. C. Aycock expects to get his hosiery mills started in the middle of November. His machines are being placed on the second floor of the Barksdale grocery building at Fifth and Jones. Later he will have his own building.

Bradstreet's Weekly Report.

New York, Oct. 14.—The cool weather later than usual in arriving this year, has given a stimulus to the retail trade throughout a wide area and helped the already active jobbing trade through the medium of re-orders. Further strength has developed in iron and steel, which, though perhaps quieter far as the new business is concerned is more firmly held or shop further advances. Preliminary for quick delivery are now almost universal, and contracts far into 1906 are announced for both crude and finished products. Export trade in all kinds of grain and flour show expansion. Prices of nearly all commodities are strong and tend upward, receiving an insistent demand. The demand for money is still growing the stock market movements are being subordinated to requirements to move the crops and finance commercial operations along all lines. Some western centers still report the banks drawing down eastern balances to meet nearer requirements.

The only flaw in the situation at present—one, by the way, flowing from the intense activity in all lines of industry—is the growing inability of the railroads to handle freight traffic offerings. The grain movement in the northwest would be larger and collections better if the eastward movement from farms could be accommodated. In the west the movement of coal and coke is checked. Lumber trade sends complaints of delayed shipments. Railway gross earnings in September were very heavy, increasing six per cent. over the same month in 1904, while for also months of the calendar year the gain over the corresponding period of last year reaches 6.4 per cent.

From Manufacturers' Record.

The Manufacturers' Record Bulletin, of Baltimore, Md., of October 12, says: "The Aycock Hosiery Mills of Paducah, Ky., will be established by R. C. Aycock, who was referred to in September as interested in such an enterprise. A building will be leased and equipped with 17 knitting machines, 23 ribbers and 5 loopers to start with, and about 10 knitting machines, 15 ribbers and 3 loopers will be added in February. Mr. Aycock expects to erect his own building in the spring, and will then also equip a dyehouse. The plant is to employ from 50 to 60 persons, and will manufacture 250 dozen pairs of fine gauge hosiery thread mills' hosiery every day. Electric power will be used."

Exports for the Week.

New York, Oct. 14.—Wheat, including flour, exports for the week 2,774,000 bushels against 1,357,000 last year; July 1 to date 19,871,000 against 19,906,000 last year.

Corn exports.

Corn exports 962,000 bushels against 855,000 a year ago; July 1 to date, 16,193,000 against 9,018,000 in 1904.

Weekly Bank Clearings.

New York, Oct. 14.—The total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet, for the past week were $2,820,191.77; an increase of 15.2 per cent. compared with the corresponding week of last year.

Accepts New Position.

Mr. Mack Logue, who has been a traveling salesman for the Paducah Glass and Queensware company, has accepted a similar place with the St. Louis Glass and Queensware company. He made his first trip this week and was very successful.

Tobacco Report.

Local Tobacco Inspector Ed. R. Miller's report for this week is as follows: Receipts, week, 9 hogsheads; receipts year, 5,800 hogsheads; offerings year, 5,270 hogsheads; average sampling week, 30 hogsheads; same week, 6 hogsheads; sales year, 5,601 hogsheads.

The new boxes sold and the persons who bought them are as follows: Mr. Ben Frank, box A; Mr. Henry Rudy, box B; Mr. Will Elke, box C; Mr. O. L. Gregory, box D; Mr. George Wallace, box E; Mr. E. P. Dr. J. H. Garber, who is to display seven German coach horses at the show next week, had three of these fine animals down in the city this morning and exhibited them on Third street, between Broadway and Jefferson streets. They are the most stylish horses ever seen in Paducah and two of them have already been sold here but the names of the purchasers have not been made public. One of the horses took first prize at the world's fair at St. Louis and is valued at $10,000.

The committee has arranged for a walk of clean sidewalk so there will be no danger of the lightest costumes being soiled during the promenade, which is always a feature of the city Horse Shows that rivals the box interest.

The invitation committee has received acceptances from twenty-six sponsors and thirty or more are counted on for a certainty. These sponsors will have attractive badges which will admit them everywhere.

The entertainment committee is arranging an automobile ride on Thursday afternoon in honor of the sponsors.

All persons owning vehicles of any kind in the city are requested by the Horse Show committee to put the Horse Show colors on their horses during the week. It will add a few live touches to the streets during the day.

Twelve Injured.

Fire Destroyed Chicago Livery Stable—Roof and Third Floor Collapsed Causing Firemen.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 14.—Twelve persons were injured, two probably fatally, a score of horses burned to death and property valued at $65,000 were destroyed in a fire that demolished the LaSalle avenue livery barns, LaSalle avenue and Ohio streets last night. While the fire was at its height the roof and third floor collapsed and twelve firemen who were in the building fighting the flames, were caught in the debris. Joseph Makay, pipeman, and John Davidson, employee of the stables, were so severely hurt it is believed they will die. Others suffered from severe cuts and bruises.

FRENCHMAN WON THE BIG AUTO RACE

100,000 People Went Out on the Course This Morning.

Nineteen Started for the Vanderbilt Cup—Several Accidents Happened.

IT WAS A 283 MILE RACE

Mineola, L. I., Oct. 14.—A hundred thousand people lined the course of the Vanderbilt cup contest this morning when nineteen automobiles, representing the United States, Germany, France and Italy started on a course 283 miles.

The race is ten times around a difficult track. It is the American premier automobile race. Society is out in force despite the fact that it was an early morning event.

Wm. K. Vanderbilt, donor of the cup, is one of the referees. Shortly after the start, a car of fifteen met with an accident throwing Mechanic Tattersall, who was taken to the hospital in a serious condition. Later Foxhall Keene crashed into a telegraph pole but escaped injury. Henry, a Frenchman driving an eighty horse power Darracq machine, won.

Heath, of France, finished second; Tracey, of America, third; Laecla, of Italy, fourth; Laecla lost the race, losing time on account of a bursting tire.

An automobile containing four women, and three men en route to the automobile races plunged head first into an open cut which marks the end of the Park avenue trolley tunnel. Biancho Selbort, an actress, probably fatally injured, the others less seriously. Charles Gelhaus, the driver of the machine, was locked up on a charge of intoxication and criminal carelessness.

There is no question but that Capt. Farley is a popular man in Paducah, McCracken county and wherever he is known and will make a fine race.

KILLED TUCKER

BUT RASPBERRY CLAIMS THE KILLING WAS IN SELF DEFENSE.

Evidence Against the Murderer Was So Strong That He Took the Stand in His Behalf.

Dyersburg, Tenn., Oct. 14.—Mr. G. W. Raspberry went on the witness stand and confessed to the murder of Slim Tucker, with which crime he stands charged, substantiating in every detail the strong chain of circumstantial evidence the state had bound around him. He corroborated every contention of the state, except one and his testimony was to the effect that he had been overtaken on the road by Tucker, whom he engaged in a conversation and Tucker made a demonstration with a pistol. He then shot in self-defense.

Raspberry's manner was straightforward and unconcerned, and he betrayed no remorse or sign of grief. He appears perfectly regardless of the verdict of the jury.

After he had left the stand the defense introduced a Mr. Willis, who claimed that Slim Tucker had talked with him about undue familiarity on his part with the wife of G. W. Raspberry, and inquired if he had heard Raspberry make any threats toward him and expressed his determination to remain in the community where Raspberry lived, even at the risk of his life.

The case will be given to the jury by 5 o'clock this afternoon. While the case attracts attention and draws a crowd there is nothing like excitement over the matter and the public desire is only for a full investigation and a fair trial for the defendant.

The prosecution wove such strong evidence of conviction around the defendant that when the state closed its proof the attorneys for the defendant asked for permission to retire with their client for a consultation. After remaining from the court room more than a half hour they returned and placed their client on the stand.

Under the direction of the Trimble street Methodist church Charles R. Taggart, the local entertainer as "The Man From Vermont," will play a "one-night's engagement at The Kentucky on Friday night.

As an impersonator Mr. Taggart has no equal, and his descriptive piano recitations and songs, recitations and stories, character sketches, ventriloquial dialogues and violin mimicry are beyond a doubt the best that can be had on the stage today.

Mr. Taggart's card of invitation is as follows:

"If you are contemplating spending an evening with me, I can assure you that I shall be delighted to see you and trust we shall enjoy ourselves to the fullest extent. My aim is neither to preach nor teach, to advise nor lecture. I shall not seek to give you information on any special subject nor to influence your minds in any particular direction. Against all these ailments, how great the scene changes to the ever, Parsifal is puffed and his party triumphs. Mad with disappointment and rage, Klingshor hurls the sacred spear at Parsifal, but instead of piercing it miraculously hangs suspended above the head of the youth who, grasping it, makes the sign of the cross, whereupon the magician's spells are broken. succeed in lifting the cares and burdens from your life, for one evening only, my purpose will have been accomplished."

"Parsifal."

The story of "Parsifal" is one of intense interest. In the Castle of the Grail, secluded from the haunts of men, two holy relics, the spear and the cup, are guarded by a band of heaven appointed Knights. Anfortas, their King, trusting rather to physical than spiritual strength, goes forth against Klingshor, a magician of evil repute, whose chief desire is to encompass the downfall of the Knights and the destruction of all holy things. The fall of Anfortas comes through Kundry, half woman, half witch, who under the spell of Klingshor is transformed into a being of transcendent beauty. Klingshor seizes the sacred spear carried by Anfortas and inflicts therewith an incurable wound in the knight's side, which bleeds afresh with every celebration of the Holy rite.

Torn by physical weakness and the pangs of remorse, Anfortas' condition became desperate, when, at length, in answer to his supplications, a celestial voice is heard promising him relief.

Parsifal appears upon the scene, a mere youth, ignorant of the ways of the world, yet nobly born. Klingshor fears that he may prove to be the Redeemer to heal Anfortas' wound and prepares for him a feast of a most seductive kind, beautiful gardens, oodles of wondrous charms, and Kundry herself transformed by magical means into an enchanting nymph, who tempts Parsifal, not by unusual ately it is healed. Then he proclaims himself King of the Grail, and orders it uncovered. Ascending the altar he raises the sacred vessel in all its crimson beauty. The Knights kneel to do him homage; Kundry dies at his feet in the joy of repentance and a white dove descending from the dome of the hall, hovers over his head, while Knights and singers sound a hymn of praise.

The story is a grand exposition of the sorrow and suffering of humanity and redemption of Purity, Faith and Love.

This famous mystic drama will be seen at The Kentucky on Saturday, Oct. 21, matinee and night.

"The Damned Three."

Forrest, McCullough, Jones, what a mighty Trinity! Three noted actors who by a peculiar chain of circumstances have succeeded each other for three successive generations, each one the protégé and legitimate successor to the other, and each in turn worthy and capable to sustain the honor thus bestowed.

When the great Edwin Forrest retired from the glare of the footlights, before which he served the public loyally for over fifty years, he bequeathed to his leading man, John McCullough, all his manuscripts and notes aside of his wardrobe, with the injunction that he should perpetuate the types of classic drama, make famous by him. This McCullough faithfully did and in turn was accepted by the public as the true successor to the honored Forrest, and with it a sure and certain knowledge of what the public wants derived from years of study and experience, and filling the public's wants regardless of expense, better than any one else.

Why Girls Leave Home.

Manager Roberts' offering at The Kentucky on Monday night will be the emotional melodrama "Why Girls Leave Home." It has its beginning in the home of a modest family near New York, where a daughter, Pearl Sherwood, is lured to the city by the glare of its social lights. She finds she is the victim of a plot, is abducted and held prisoner and meets with numerous adventures of the kind and in the end her higher sense of right asserts itself. The play carries with it a moral lesson. The production is a very elaborate one.

Tick Is a Favorite.

This season all of the attractions of Frank L. Perley, seven of them transplanted to the Kentucky, are looking in the independent theatres, and that most successful of romantic comedy operas, "The Girl and the Bandit," will make its local debut at The Kentucky on Wednesday night. Mr. Perley has made few changes in the cast. It contains such artists of international repute as Viola Gillette, Mabel Hite, Joseph Miron, T. Henry Coote, Frances Ann Wear, George J. MacFarlane, Marion Wilder, Campbell Donald and Sidney Bracy, who are giving an almost perfect so when physical and mental decay began to encroach upon the mighty McCullough, he emulated the example set by his predecessor, and calling his leading man, Louis Jones, to his side, he transferred to him the manuscripts of "Virgilius," "Ingomar," "Othello," etc., together with this Roman Gladius and Virginia "Uran," with the reservation that he would with dignity and distinction fulfill the mission he, himself, so bravely labored to sustain.

How well Louis Jones has executed his commission can be attested to by following his career since John McCullough vacated in 1881 that place on the stage he so magnificently graced for many years—his association with Lawrence Barrett—his co-starring tours with the greatest exponent of the classic drama—his affiliation with a star cast, and his individual stellar ventures, have at times been devoted to perpetuating the memory of those stalwarts who have preceded him, as well as link his own name with theirs by honorably sustaining and fulfilling the mission to which he was delegated.

At The Kentucky Thursday night

No Whiteheart Here.

Whole companies of word-painters have attempted to depict the exquisite quality and the insidious charms of Lyman H. Howe's moving pictures and they have failed. The line like this fly in the amber of the early stage of human upon the nose of the comedian. The great exhibition to appear at the Kentucky theater tonight is the rare talent of ingenuity and perseverance in developing modern inventions to their highest efficiency, and in connection

R. H. Dowry, of "The Fortune Teller," a big musical comedy coming to The Kentucky October 21, is expected in the city today.

Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed the residence of Mrs. Mary Bailey, of this city, at Metropolis. The damage was about $1,500, with partial insurance.

PAINTED MISHAP.

Adam Weikert has foot mashed by heavy frame.

Mr. Adam Weikert, a machinist employed in the local C. C. shops, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon at the shops.

He was handling a portion of an engine truck frame, when the entire frame became dislodged from its position and fell on his right foot, mashing the member very badly. Companion lifted the heavy iron work off the foot as quickly as possible and freed the injured man. He was taken to the hospital where the foot was examined. It is thought that several small bones were broken by the immense frame, but on account of the swollen condition of the foot, little can be told of it for a day or two.

HIGHER COURT FOR TELEPHONE CASE

Judge Sanders Finds East Tennessee Guilty.

A Fine of $25 Assessed—Company's Violation Was a Technical One.

AN APPEAL TO BE TAKEN

Police Judge D. L. Sanders this morning rendered his opinion in the case against the East Tennessee Telephone Co., charged with a breach of ordinance, in failing to meet with the requirements of an ordinance regulating the digging up of city streets. The opinion was not a victory for either side, as Judge Sanders simply acted as an instrument to carry the matter to the higher court, where it will eventually, with other questions, be passed on.

"The only question in this case for me to decide is whether or not under the law, the defendant shall make application to the city engineer for a permit, which shall be followed by an estimate made by the city engineer on the damage done the street then the defendant shall deposit this amount—the amount of damage done the street—with the city-depositary before he can proceed with the work," Judge Sanders declared.

"I have nothing to do with this contract the city engineer and stockholders of the telephone company drew up by which the defendant was permitted to dig up the streets. It is the contention of the mayor and other city officials that the board of works is in control of the street work and that application should be made to this board; again it is alleged that the applicant shall go to the council or board of aldermen. In brief there is a great deal of contention in the charter relative to this point, and it is a hard matter to tell who is at the head of the street work. If the board of public works has the authority, then the city council has not; but I see no necessity of my taking this matter up. It is not a point for me to decide, and will be dealt on by the circuit judge and possibly the judges of the court of appeals; therefore this question is one not to be considered in this court.

"So I will pass this question and come down to the plain points of law—as to whether or not the defendant is guilty of a breach of ordinance. We take it that the defendant dug up the street. The ordinance reads that the applicant shall go to the city engineer, secure a permit to dig up the street, but before he can proceed with this work, it is necessary that the city engineer make an estimate on the probable damage to the street, and the applicant will have to deposit this sum with the city. This has not been done, yet the streets have been dug up. Therefore the defendant is guilty of a breach of ordinance and I fine it $25 and costs, the judgment to be suspended until the city's petition, filed in circuit court, to settle the question as to whether or not the defendant is operating under a legal permit, or otherwise, is settled."

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is not really a sickness, but a symptom. It is a symptom that a certain set of nerves is ailing. Not the voluntary nerves that enable you to walk and think and act—but the AUTOMATIC STOMACH NERVES over which your mind has no control.

I have made no room here to explain how these tender, tiny nerves control and operate the stomach. How worry broods them down and causes indigestion. How misuse wears them out and causes dyspepsia. How neglect may bring on indigestion and other troubles through sympathy. I have no room to explain how these nerves may be reached and strengthened and vitalized and made stronger by a remedy I spent years in perfecting—now known by physicians and druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative, (Tables or Tablets). I have no room to explain how this remedy, by removing the cause, usually puts a certain end to indigestion, belching, heartburn, insomnia, nervousness, dyspepsia. All of these things are fully explained in the book I will send for the book. It tells how the solar plexus governs all the hundred other things every one ought to know—for all of us, at some time or other, have indigestion. With the book I will send free my "Health Token"—an intended passport to good health.

For the free book and the "Health Token" you must address Dr. Shoop, Box 171, Racine, Wis. State which book you want.

HOW ARE YOU GOING TO VOTE?

Most of the democratic nominees for the legislative boards of Paducah are now serving. They are a part of the Velsor machine. They expect the people of Paducah to vote for them next month. Why? What have they done to merit re-election? Can they name a single thing? Have they not made a botch of everything? The simplest problems of municipal government have been handled in a pitifully incompetent and unsatisfactory manner. The more important matters, such as street reconstruction and sanitation, have been shamefully neglected and persistently delayed.
They are paid $3 a meeting to transact public business, and can hardly pass an ordinance of the simplest kind that is not subsequently found to be full of fatal errors and omissions, although it has been passed on by the city solicitor, a committee or two read four times in open meeting and then passed to the mayor.

It is an administration of broken pledges and repudiation. It is an administration that drifts peacefully along an old way, and its only motto is "Personal Pull and Profit."

Do the people propose to again elect these officials because the ticket is labelled "democratic," when they have every evidence of its incompet-ence, and every reason to know that it taxes them to the limit without advantage return?

If the people are satisfied, they will vote for another round. But we do not believe they are. If they are not satisfied to take our word for conditions, and are not content with what they can see and hear all around them every day, let them take the time for the past few months of the city's official organs, democratic, which have reported that the Velsor machine has been overthrown the same and paducah at it. Then.

If the crown's own organ, the citizens, thus indicate the administration, do you propose to still uphold it?

STATE DEVELOPMENT.

Messrs. Coons and Hummel, the only two delegates that attended the fourth state development convention from Paducah that has just closed in Louisville, have returned.

The convention was taken to Winchester for next year, notwithstanding the fact that our delegates made a hard fight to bring it to Paducah.
The citizens of Paducah can hardly appreciate the importance and the value this convention would have been to our citizens, the advertising advantages would have been great.

Many representatives of capital were in Louisville in attendance upon this convention seeking information for the investment of capital, the best commercial papers in the country were represented by experts, who will write up the advantages of various localities of the state, spreading information broadcast just in the channels where it will do the most good to commercial and financial interests, hence notwithstanding the fact that we failed to secure the convention, the advertising done by our representatives was of no small consequence.

Our city and county at the next convention should send a good strong delegation, and make every effort to land this convention for Paducah. It is a wrong idea to conclude that it would not be of immense value to us. The few hundred dollars necessary to prepare for the convention is a mere bagatelle, and of no consequence when compared with the advertising and advantages to be derived from such a representative body.

The express companies have announced that they will obey the demands of the Kentucky railroad commission. This is good news. If there is anything more arrogant, expediting and often indifferent to public interests than the express companies, we have never heard of it. As a contemporary remarks—"It does what it pleases, charges what it pleases, and does as it pleases generally." The companies at Shelbyville recently added an extra cent to everything handled because the council had imposed a license on the companies. They were proceeding to ignore public protests, when the railroad commission assumed authority to regulate the express companies—and did it.
The railroads, insurance companies, coal companies, beef trusts and many other things have been hauled up before the bar of publicity. Somebody ought to suggest the express companies now.

The Hazel, Ky., News is delightfully frank, as follows: "To save the editor of this paper from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair send him every item of news which you can get hold of. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and then send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

Congressman Swager Sherley, one of the three southern congressmen who accompanied Secretary Taft to the Philippines, returns with the firm conviction that the Philippine government is a self-government and are likely to be unfit for several generations.
So much for the benevolent ideas of those over here who have been insisting that the natives should be given unqualified independence.
When the Philippines are fit, they will be given what is due them. Until then, Uncle Sam will watch over them.

Republicans, if you failed to register, do it Tuesday. It is to your interest to register, and to vote for better men and a better city government after January 1st.

Paducah didn't get the state development convention, but our turn will probably come next.

PADUCAH LOST OUT AFTER HARD FIGHT

Winchester Won the State Development Convention.

Paducah Delegates Found Only One Man Who Had Never Heard of Paducah.

THE CONVENTION IS OVER.

Paducah came near landing the next state development convention, but missed by several votes. Messrs.
D. W. Coons and W. P. Hummel, who remained today, think that Paducah could have won the contest had someone else come up to assist them when they wired for assistance last Wednesday.

The fight was between Winchester, Paducah and Louisville, and when the vote was taken, many delegates were absent. The final vote was 32 for Winchester, 26 for Paducah and 20 for Louisville.

The Louisville Times says:
"After a stormy session, in which Senator McCreary was compelled to use his gavel many times in restoring order, Winchester was chosen as the next meeting place. The contest between Paducah and Winchester was exceedingly close. After it became known that Winchester had captured the convention for next year D. W.
Coons, of the Paducah delegation, made a motion that the selection be made unanimous. The motion was carried without a dissenting voice."

Both Paducah delegates are high in their praise of the convention and the good it is to do in the state.
They think that while these conventions cost a city $1,200 or $1,500, they bring in many thousands, in addition to the advertising it gives a city.

The Paducahans advertised Paducah at every opportunity, and had many people wearing Paducah badges. In fact, Paducah badges were so much more conspicuous than any thing else that a telephone girl asked Secretary Coons what Paducah's chances were, and he informed her that he believed Paducah would lose.

"How bad," she replied, "and there are so many people here from Paducah too!" She thought every person who wore a Paducah badge was from Paducah.

Only one man was found among the 200 delegates who had never heard of Paducah. He was an Indiana man, and it is said that he went home with a very distinct recollection of the Pride of the Bar-chase.

The adoption of a resolution insuring that the organization will be perpetuated under the name of the State Development Association, the selection of Winchester as the meeting place next year, and the promulgation in a set of stirring resolutions of reforms needed to bring about the increased prosperity Kentucky deserves and will have were the last acts of the fourth state development convention, which completed its labors at Louisville.

The resolutions adopted by the state development convention recommend:

First—Revision of the state revenue and taxation laws.
Second—Establishment of a state bureau of immigration and information.
Third—Organization of county immigration societies.
Fourth—Better equipment for the State Agricultural and Mechanical college.
Fifth—Extension of the school system and establishment of state normal schools.
Sixth—Continuation of the state geological survey.
Seventh—Creation of the office of state forester.
Eighth—Permanency of the state fair and selection of a permanent location.
Ninth—Enlargement of the scope of the state board of agriculture.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient antiseptic and purifier in nature, but few realize its value in bringing into the human system the most cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

ROSE'S POLICY

Will Probably Be Considered by Interested Persons Monday.

It is likely that something will be done about Monday by the administrator of the H. A. Rose estate, Mr.
F. G. Hindolph, and the officials of the Western National bank, at Louisville, in regard to the $10,000 policy on H. A. Rose's life, which the bank holds as collateral on a loan made to the lumber company of which Rose was a member until a few days before his death. It is likely that nothing further will be done than to decide on the disposition of the fund until the courts decide who is entitled to it.

Proof of death has been forwarded to the company, but it has four weeks now in which to pay the policy. When it is paid the money might as well be put at interest while its possession is hanging up in the courts.

CORONER LEFT

FOR VISIT TO SHANTY BOATER AT TOWHEAD.

Father Has Body of Son in Bottom of Boat, Covered With Sawdust and Alcohol.

This afternoon Coroner Charles Crow will go to the towhead opposite the I. C. incline and investigate a very unusual case.

About two weeks ago a shanty-boatman's 12-year-old son died and the father, not being able to have the body embalmed, placed it in the bottom of his house boat, covered it with sawdust and then saturated the sawdust with alcohol, using this as the method of embalming, in place of burial.

The father, it is said, does not want to bury the body until he himself is dead, and then wants both bodies buried together. The matter was reported to the police several days ago, and mentioned in the Sun but nothing done.

Coroner Crow has jurisdiction to the Illinois shore, and will try to induce the father to give up the body and have it buried in the county cemetry, if the parent can not afford a better burial.

and on account of the deal going through in which the old company sold out to Stone & Webster, of Boston, the officer will probably not take any definite action towards a conference with the street car officers before Monday, if at all.

The class was accompanied by the entire High school faculty and will return late this afternoon. This is the first outing of the class this year, but it is expected that several will be held later on.

Was a Great Success.

The "New England Supper" given last night by the ladies of the Third street Methodist church in the tent at Sixth and Husbards street, was a most successful and largely attended affair. HIGHER OFFICIALS REVERSED LOCALS

Engineer John Reynolds's License Restored to Him.

It is Suspended Ninety Days From September 1, Which the Engineer Will Accept.

HAS BEEN HARD FOUGHT CASE

The judgment of E. L. Dorsey, of Louisville, district supervising inspector for the marine service, against First Engineer John Reynolds, of the steamer Kentucky, delivered several days ago in which the engineer's license was permanently revoked for the alleged violation of section No. 4437 of the United States statutes, which provides that an engineer shall carry not over a certain maximum amount of steam, has been modified and the engineer's license restored to him, but he will have to accept a suspension of ninety days before he can again assume his duties on the river in the capacity of engineer.

The case began several weeks ago, when one of the local inspectors of Nashville, boarded the steamer Kentucky somewhere up the Tennessee river, and claims to have found up over 200 pounds of steam.

The inspectors immediately suspended the license of both Engineer Reynolds and Assistant McCandless for a long term.

An appeal was taken by the engineers to Supervising Inspector Dorsey, of Louisville, who came down and held an investigation at the government building. It was alleged by the engineer that the steam gauge was wrong, and often showed several pounds of steam when the boilers were cold.

It was shown that even if the engineer was to blame the assistant knew nothing about it, and Inspector Dorsey restored Engineer McCandless' license, but permanently revoked the license of Engineer Reynolds.

The latter appealed the case to the highest authority. Supervising Inspector General Earle, of Washington, who held that while the engineer was not guilty as charged, he was guilty of negligence. The engineers had further been compelled to testify against themselves in the trial here which was illegal, and the supervising inspector general restored the license of Engineer Reynolds, and suspended it for ninety days, beginning September 1.

Raffles, The Amateur Cracksman

By I. W. MORNING

THE GIFT OF THE EMPEROR

No. 6 of the Series

And here was the prize (this pearl as large as a filbert, with a pale pink tinge like a lady's finger nail; this spoil of a filibustering age; this gift from a European emperor to a south sea chief. We glanced over it when all was said. We looked at it in the light of the great moon, but the moon was greater, more triumphant than our most sanguine dreams. All we had now to do was to secure the gem (which Raffles had picked from its setting, replacing the latter, so that we could stand the strictest search and yet take it home with us at Naples, and this Raffles was doing when I turned in. I myself would have handed incontinently that night at Genoa, and he would have been the first to hear of it, for a dozen good reasons which will be obvious.)

On the whole I do not think that anything was discovered or suspected before we weighed anchor, but I cannot be sure. It is difficult to believe that a man could be chloroformed in his sleep and feel no telltale effects, sniff no suspicious odor in the morning. Nevertheless, Von Heumann reappeared as though nothing had happened to him, his German cap over his eyes and his mustaches brushing the deck. And by 10 o'clock we were off of Genoa. The last night, when I left my room, I found the door ajar. The last night, when I left my room, I found the door ajar. The last night, when I left my room, I found the door ajar.

I went into the cabin. "All right! Let him find the pearl!"

"Have you dumped it overboard?"

"That's a question I don't intend to answer."

He turned on his heel, and at subsequent intervals I saw him making the most of his last afternoon with the inevitable Miss Werner. I remember that she looked both cool and smart in quite a simple affair of brown holland, which fitted well with her complexion and was cleverly relieved with touches of ecru. I quite admired her that afternoon, for her eyes were really very good and so were her teeth, yet I had never admired her more directly in my own despite, for I passed them again and again in order to get a word with Raffles, to tell him I knew there was danger in the wind. But he would not so much as catch my eye. So at last I gave it up. And I saw him next in the captain's cabin.

"They had summoned him first. He parting at Naples sat heavily on his spine.

"He would neither talk to me nor would he let me go.

"Stop where you are, Hunny. I've things to tell you. Can you swim?"

"A bit."

"Ten miles?"

"Ten?" I burst out laughing. "Not

one. Why do you ask?"

"We shall be within a ten miles' swim of the shore most of the day."

"What on earth are you driving at,

Raffles?"

"Nothing. Only I shall swim for it if the worst comes to the worst. I suppose you can't swim under water at all?"

"I did not answer his question. I scarcely heard it. Cold heads were bursting through my skin."

"Why should the worst come to the worst?" I whispered. "We aren't found out, are we?"

"No."

"Then why speak as though we were?"

"We may be. An old enemy of ours couldn't come all this way about a jewel which was perfectly safe for all he knew. What's your own theory?"

"Simply that he's been on my track for some time, probably ever, since friend Crawshaw slipped clean through his fingers last November. There have been other indications. I am really not unprepared for this. But it can only be pure suspicion. I'll defy him to bring anything home, and I'll defy him to find the pearl. Theory, my dear Bunny? I know how he's got here as well as though I'd been inside that Scotchman's skin, and I know what he'll do next. He found out I'd gone aboard and looked for a motive. He found out about Von Heumann and his mission, and there was his motive cut and dried. Great chance to nab me on a new job altogether. But he won't do it, Hunny. Mark my words, he'll search the ship and search us all when the loss is known, but he'll search in vain. And there's the skipper beckoning the whippersnapper to his cabin. The fat will be in the fire in five minutes."

Yet there was no conflagration, no hiss, no scolding of the passengers, no whisper of what had happened in the air. Instead of a stir there was portentous peace, and it was clear to me that Raffles was not a little disturbed at the falsification of all his predictions. There was something sinister in silence under such a loss, and the silence was sustained for hours, during which Mackenzie never reappeared. But he was abroad during the luncheon hour—he was in our cabin!

I had left my book in Raffles' berth, and in taking it after lunch I touched the quilt. It was warm from the recent pressure of flesh and blood, and on an instinct I signing to the venilator opposite closed with a snap.

I went into the cabin. "All right! Let him find the pearl!"

"Have you dumped it overboard?"

"That's a question I don't intend to answer."

He turned on his heel, and at subsequent intervals I saw him making the most of his last afternoon with the inevitable Miss Werner. I remember that she looked both cool and smart land, which fitted well with her com-had gone in smiling, and smiling I found him when they summoned me.

The stewardess was gracious, as he-dited that of a commander. Mackenzie sat on the settee, his head in front of him on the polished table, but a revolver lay in front of the captain, and when I had entered the chief officer, who had summoned me, shut the door and put his back to it. Von Heumann completed the party, his fingers busy with his mustache.

Raffles greeted me.

"This is a great joke!" he cried.

"You remember the pearl you were so keen about, Hunny, the emperor's pearl, the pearl would not lay?"

It seems it was intrusted to our little friend here to take out to Canoodle

Island, and the poor little chap's gone and lost it. Ergo, as we're Britishers they think we've got it."

"But I know you have," put in Mackenzie, nodding to his beard.

"You will recognize that loyal and patriotic voice," said Raffles. "Now, this our mutual acquaintance Mackenzie of Scotland Yard and Scotland Yard is here."

"That is enough," cried the captain.

"Have you submitted to be seized or do

I voice you?"

"What you will," said Raffles, "but I will do you up him to give us fair play first. You accuse us of breaking into Captain von Heumann's stateroom during the small hours of this morning and abstracting from it this contained pearl. Well, I can prove that I was in my own room all night long, and I have no doubt my friend can prove the same."

"Most certainly I can," said I indignantly. "The ship's boys can bear witness to that."

Mackenzie laughed and shook his head at his reflection in the polished mahogany.

STATE CROPS

As Shown by the Monthly Report

Just Issued.

At Paducah, Oct. 14.—Commissioner of Agriculture Yreeland issued the following report:

The month of September was generally favorable for growing tobacco and preparing land for wheat seeding. Complaint of too much rain in some localities, but little damage was done by excessive moisture. The corn crop promises to be a bumper crop. Prospect is 5 per cent. larger than last year. The prospect is good for an average acreage of wheat being sown. There seems to be a falling off in the acreage of both winter oats and rye. The estimate for hurdle tobacco is 1 per cent. greater than last year, while the estimate on the dark crop is 19 per cent. less. The crop of both was practically all in the house and safe from frost October 1.

Meadows are nearly up to the standard. Clover in a large part of the state is reported good, but in some localities it is seriously damaged by

Between Telephone Men at Pulaski, Tenn.

Mr. C. L. Meyers, of the Cumberland Telephone company, who frequently comes to Paducah, and was in this section for several weeks recently, was one of the principals in an exciting fistfight at Pulaski, Tenn., a day or two ago. A dispatch says:

"The proceedings of the board of aldermen were interrupted by a fight between C. L. Meyers, of the Cumberland Telephone company, and

J. A. Zeeluff, representing the Alabama Long Distance Telephone and Telegraph company, which seeks a franchise here. Each man represented his side of the case. Mr. Meyers showing the alleged disadvantages of two systems in the same town, and Mr. Zeeluff claiming advantages for competing lines and saying that he had worked for the Cumberland seven years doing the same dirty work.

Mr. Meyers is now doing. Mr. Meyers thereupon struck Mr. Zeeluff over the eye with what bystanders alleged was a pair of brass knuckles, inflicting an ugly wound, which bled freely. Mr. Zeeluff is said to have made a motion as if to draw a pistol but was prevented, and both were arrested and searched, but no concealed weapons were found. Recorder Butler fined Mr. Zeeluff $5 and Mr. Meyers $10.

it emerges from a tunnel, when his

MORE OFFICIALS

PASS THROUGH PADUCAH FOR THE TENNESSEE CENTRAL.

Their Trip Believed to Be Significant But Nothing Is Given Out.

Higher railroad officials continue to move in this vicinity and last night another party of higher I. C. officials passed through Paducah en route to Nashville. It is supposed, on business connected with the I. C. leading the Tennessee Central road. Mr. I. G. Rawn, general manager; A. S. Baldwin, chief engineer, and H. M. Court, superintendent of southern lines of the I. C., arrived in Paducah at 4:30 from the south on a special train and went to Nashville about 8 o'clock via Hopkinsville over the Tennessee Central, leaving on the Cairo-Hopkinsville accommodation train.

The officials paid a visit to the Paducah shops before leaving and held a conference with several local railroad officials. Their visit to this section pertains directly, it is said, to the Tennessee Central deal, and is borne out by the fact that the party went to Nashville.

THEIR LITTLE JOKE.

I. C. Employee Is Now a Full-Fledged Dentist.

There are many trades and professions to be found among the employees of the local I. C. railroad shops—men who have forsaken professions for the railroad business—but the latest profession to develop came to the surface yesterday afternoon when Tom Knight, a colored employee of the local I. C. machine shops, got the toothache.

players of the local I. C. railroad shops—men who have forsaken professions for the railroad business—but the latest profession to develop came to the surface yesterday afternoon when Tom Knight, a colored employee of the local I. C. machine shops, got the toothache.

So loud were Tom's wailings that it disturbed those who worked about him, and finally in desperation Mr. Lark Wilkes, a machine operator, suggested that Knight have the troublesome tooth extracted.

It was a front tooth and easy to get at, and after a little persuasion, the darkey agreed to have it out and Mr. Wilkes was selected to play the dentist.

Mr. Wilkes went into the planing mill and borrowed a pair of wire cutters and secured a nail key, leaned the patient against the bench, placed the key in such a position as Knight's head would be inclined, and began his operation.

Wilkes first got a tight grip on the tooth and making sure there would be no slipping, began pulling. After a series of blood curdling yells and several difficult feats in the contortionist line, Knight was released, the tooth reposing firmly in the jaws of the pliers.

Because of this act of humanity on the part of the popular machinist, his companions have dubbed him "the dentist" and some wag placed a shingle out this morning on Mr. Wilkes' bench with the words "I. Wilkes, Dentist," pinned on it.
